

The Month Of Manifestation!
Feb 1st, 2010 by

Rather than write some content for Feb 2010 I thought this message from Gabriele sums things up rather well.. Enjoy!

Gabriele's Monthly Weather Report for February: Channeled By Robert Baker

This month will bring about the experience of looking at your CHOICES in a new way.

You will need to continue looking at your oppositions, as you begin to understand the difference between JUDGMENT and DISCERNMENT/ OBSERVATION. Judgment creates separation and discernment looks at the essence of all sides.

As you look, you will see the extremes that have been in place for your whole lifetime. Judgment of self. Judgment of systems. How you have made so many of your choices through judgment.

You have not had freedom of will to make choices, because you have kept yourselves in such fear. That is what comes from opposition and duality. Unless you are free to choose anything and learn from it, you are not free to choose.

Learn this month how to begin to transmute your judgments into evaluations of what serves you and why. This will help you come into ownership of freedom of choice in a completely new way.

You will begin to exercise these new choices in your own life at first. That is because it will come from an inner awakening, evaluation and truth, and only eventually can you then act from those new truths in the various arenas of your life.

You will see many systems held in judgment, and a fear of letting it go. People have been so afraid to let go of their controlling agendas. That is because you have not understood more evolved, fulfilling choices. As this is challenged, February will be a month of feeling rather out of control. This is because this time is about the re-structuring of form.

Do not forget that this is all being caused or inspired by the higher energies of the soul challenging the limitations of the old forms of the personality. You will begin to move into multi-dimensionality and a true relationship to all things, if you are doing your inner work and allowing inner transformation.

Those who seek control instead, will feel even more threatened. People will try to pass laws and bills to hang on to the old, familiar way of things... The Patriot Act will move into some desperate action as people begin to feel more out of control. You will also see people protesting this.

You will see people starting to stand up in new ways, based on their individual truths attempting to emerge. Some who have been passive, waiting for rescue, will feel more unsettled remaining in passivity. They will begin to consider action at this time.

There will be activity in the heart region, spleen and digestive tract. Thymus issues, as well as immune dis-ease will be on the increase.
